Dillen's line of Thinwall (T/W) containers provide growers with a multitude of options in style, shape and color. Most of our standard stock color is green, although black, white and clay are additional options. Bulk packaging is also available on many products to allow the grower efficiencies in storage and cost savings. Dillen's array of injection molded pots and trays is unsurpassed. WFS offers many choices of containers to hold or propagate plant materials.

Container Fill Guide

The following chart is provided as a general guide. Actual yields will depend on the container and the filling and compaction technique. You will need to take into consideration several factors.

1. Systems for filling and handling containers vary widely from grower to grower. Some growers fill containers and plant by hand. Others may use potting machines of various makes and models.
2. The dimensions of a given container will vary by manufacturer. For example, all 6" containers are not the same.
3. The physical properties of various growing media give them different responses to the effects of handling and compaction. Moisture content also influences the number of containers filled.

**3.8 cu. ft. bale yields approximately 7.0-7.5 cu ft of mix when loosened.
